This material was produced by the Program on Employment and Disability, School of Industrial and Labor Relations—Extension Division, Cornell University, and funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (grant #H133A70005 to fund a Research and Demonstration Project entitled Improving Employment Practices Covered by Title I of the ADA).

Acknowledgements

Cornell University is currently funded by the U.S. Department of Education National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research for a four-year Research and Demonstration entitled Improving Employment Practices Covered by Title I of the ADA (Grant # H133A70005). As a part of these efforts, we have done an extensive literature review on topics related to employer practices and the employment provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). This bibliography is the result of these eighteen months of efforts. This publication is available as a print product, and is accessible online at <http://www.ilr.cornell.edu>. We hope that these resources will be of assistance in helping human resource professionals, employers, providers of vocational rehabilitation services, advocacy organizations, and persons with disabilities and their family members to better employ the ADA in effectively implementing the accommodation process.
