

Cornell University
ILR School

Labor Research Review

Volume 1 | Number 19

Saving Manufacturing: Charting a New Course for our Unions and Communities

Article 13

1992

LRR Focus: The Gary Tax Abatement Ordinance

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@ILR. It has been accepted for inclusion in Labor Research Review by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@ILR. For more information, please contact hlmdigital@cornell.edu.

© 1992 by Labor Research Review

LRR Focus: The Gary Tax Abatement Ordinance

Abstract

Rules for applicants and city, as set down by the Gary Tax Abatement Ordinance.

Keywords

Gary Tax Abatement Ordinance

LRR FOCUS: The Gary Tax Abatement Ordinance

The Applicant Company must:

- notify employees (and union if one is present) of its intent to apply for an abatement;
- provide detailed financial information on both the plant and any parent company (including sales, profits, net assets, capital investments, debts, capacity utilization);
- list any previous public subsidies received and figures on number of jobs promised and delivered;
- report construction jobs created, permanent jobs gained and lost, and changes in job conditions and wages for existing employees.

The City must:

- deny the abatement unless jobs created are at or above the prevailing wage for that job category, (minor exception for up to two years for business start-ups with fewer than 50 employees);
- deny the abatement unless the applying company provides a full health care package to all employees working more than 25 hours per week (exemption for up to two years for very small employers with less than ten workers);
- deny abatement for jobs only being relocated;
- fine the company up to $2500 for falsifying information on application or in its reports;
- terminate the abatement if the recipient company fails to create the promised jobs, moves the equipment, or does not live up to its commitments.