Cutters News and Events

by Samuel Feuerherr Manager: Local 10

The preparatory campaign in the dress industry, with such remarkable progress, is already bearing abundant fruit among the men in the cutting rooms of the nation. The causes which underlay the movement toward a strike in the dress industry are the most obvious. The results of the strike are well known, and the whole industry is now on the alert to prevent further congestion and to avert a repeat of the last strike. The success of the movement is widely recognized, and the workers in the industry are united in their determination to prevent further strikes. The solidarity of the workers is evident, and the industry is moving forward to a solution of the problems that face it.

GLEANINGS FROM LOS ANGELES

by Harry Scott

July has been a lively month in the world of labor. The strike in New York has drawn national attention, and the dress cutters in Los Angeles have been active in their support of the strikers. The strike in New York has been a significant event in the history of the dress industry, and the cutters in Los Angeles have shown their solidarity with their colleagues in the strike.

The CLOAKMAKERS OF NEW YORK, by a decisive vote of two to one, accepted last week the Cloak and Suit Code as a basis for a collective agreement. The approval of the Code was foreordained earlier in the week when, on Monday, August 7, a joint meeting of the executive boards of all cloak locals in New York had voted by a crushing majority to "endorse the action of the Union's leaders" who had taken such an important part in the formulation of the code, both at the Washington hearings and at the subsequent conferences with the employers and the NRA. The present Code represents a great step in the direction of protecting the workers in the garment trade.

The local executives, in addition, instructed the administration of the Cloak Joint Board to order a cessation of work in the shops immediately after the approval of the code by the membership. That no further action will be necessary to establish the Code is evident, and the Code is now in full force. The Code has been well received by the workers in the industry, and the employers have agreed to abide by its terms.

To get an adequate idea of what the cloakmakers of New York have gained, or lost, through the code, it would be necessary, it seems to us, to draw a comparison between the original demands submitted by the Union's conference committee and the Code. The Code is a significant step forward in the protection of the workers in the garment industry, and it is a victory for the workers in the union.

The Code was established to prevent the employers from engaging in unfair labor practices, such as the use of strikebreakers and the violation of the workers' rights. The Code also provides for the establishment of a minimum wage and a maximum working hour, and it sets up a system of arbitration to settle disputes between the workers and the employers.

Toronto Cloakmakers Union Reports Fair Headway

By Samuel Krehmam, Business Agent, Toronto Joint Board

The Union now expects to see the day when it is no longer necessary for the dress industry to be the object of all this sympathetic interest. In the meantime, however, the Union will continue to work for the improvement of wages and working conditions for the workers in the dress industry.

The Union is making progress in the fight for fair wages and working conditions. It has been able to obtain an increase in wages for its members, and it is working towards the establishment of a minimum wage for all workers in the dress industry. The Union is also working towards the elimination of child labor and the improvement of working conditions for all workers in the dress industry.

In conclusion, the Union wants to thank all those who have supported it in its struggle for fair wages and working conditions. The Union will continue to work for the improvement of wages and working conditions for all workers in the dress industry.

2,000 St. Louis Dressmakers On Strike

By Ben Gilbert
Manager St. Louis Joint Board

Strike Ties Up Industry

On Thursday, August 16, President Duncan of the National Amalgamated of Dressmakers in St. Louis announced that there had been a great meeting which was attended by no less than 2,000 dressmakers. The central point of the speeches was general strike, and it went on.

Next day we had a meeting with the manufacturers' association. As a result thereof, a conference was arranged between the employers and the manufacturers, and no longer without success.

The President Duncan was in St. Louis, and said that they were very glad to have the chance of discussing the question of wages and hours for hearings in Washington.

What the Strikers Demand

1. The recognition of the I.L.G.W.U. through which collective bargaining is to be transacted.
2. All employees in the shops are to be members of this Union.
3. Non-union workers cannot be employed.
4. Both chairmen are to be elected by the employees.
5. Arbitration in the board.
6. Equal division of work, especially during rush times.
7. The following are the days of striking:
   a) Cutters: the elimination of the piece system.
   b) Other departments: $4 per week.

Practically All Workers Evolved

Our work here is progressing quite rapidly. The cutters are now working regularly every day. We have practically no work during the week. The workers in these branches of the trade:

The girls in the dress shops had several meetings, and have decided to form a collective bargaining agreement with the employees. We have consulted with them and it has been agreed that the girls will not work.

There is hardly any work in the trade now, and we have been told that the girls will not come to work at all. We expect that they will come, and make them regular members.

AN APPEAL TO THE WORKERS OF THE WORLD

From the St. Louis Joint Board-Leadership

We appeal to all dressmakers in the world to join our strike. The employers are trying to keep us out of work, but we will not allow them. We ask for your support. If you want to save your own jobs, please help us.

Cloak and Suit Coat Echoes

President Dubinsky Greets 1,200 Garment Workers

President Dubinsky of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, at the meeting of the 1,200 members in the garment industry, expressed his appreciation of the work done by the members. He said that the union is making great progress in its efforts to improve the conditions of the workers.

Deal Approved by Two to One

The cloakworkers in New York City have voted to approve the deal of $2 an hour paid to the workers of the nearby Garment Workers' Union. The vote was two to one in favor of the deal, which is expected to improve the wages and working conditions of the workers.

A Wire to President Green

"Mr. William Green, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor, Washington, D.C.

President Dubinsky of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, in a wire to President Green, said that the union is making great progress in its efforts to improve the conditions of the workers. He said that the union is making great strides in the garment industry, and that the workers are looking forward to better conditions in the future."
On the Eve of the New York Dress Walkout

The general committee to lead the New York dress strike has already been elected. The dress strike machinery is being put in order. Maxine S. Mitchell, representatives, editors, editors, and other "war" literature are being issued. Employment agents are on the job to learn, to guess the day when the strike will begin.

The chairman of the strike committees is putting the machinery in order. All the dress strike committees have been completed and the strike is to be a general strike, that is, all employees in every department of the Union. The strike is to be a general strike. The strike is to be a general strike. The strike is to be a general strike.

What does the Union demand from the employers? Immediately, it demands that all the major employers in the industry sign the strike committee. The strike committee will be able to sign the strike committee. The strike committee will be able to sign the strike committee. The strike committee will be able to sign the strike committee.

Which is the, of course, perfectly right. But there is another, and quite an interesting angle which this strike is. It is a struggle of the women's garment industry who belong to the L. R. W. U., who are watching at a fraternal sympa...
A Bird's-Eye View of "Out-of-Town" Activity

This time it is not the conventional example of the lack of time that precludes me from giving the readers of "Justice" a detailed account of the annual Labor Day demonstrations of the International in the so-called "out-of-town" or "of the lights" activities. It is the truth. For, the temperance wave has been aroused during the past months in the form of stricter unionism and an strengthening existing temperance laws. At the same time, in this field, has taken everyone connected with the labor movement seriously.

It is true that our organizing staff has been working overtime. We have not been able to make the foremost displays by President Baldwin, who, in his speech, said we have worked twice the usual time in the past two months. We are now expected to win.

But, if the question is: "Are we winning?" the answer is: "Yes." We are winning.

A Zone of a 100 Miles

Our territory, for certain special re-sons, has been named "Out-of-Town." Actually, it is the entire strip within a hundred miles from New York City—New Haven-
To-Boston, N. J., and the south of the state.

The work we have done has been wonderful. We have had to work in a very small area, but we have managed to make our mark.

One of our greatest achievements was to win the support of the local unions in the area. They have been very cooperative and have given us all the help we need.

We have had some problems, of course,
but we have managed to overcome them.

The future is bright for us. We are convinced that we will win.

I.G.W.U. Heard at Two Other Code Hearings

August 15, 1933

Current-Braunie Industry Hearing

The hearing on the proposed code for the Current-Braunie industry was held on August 14, 1933, before the Department of Labor, Washington, before Deputy Administrator
B. D. M. Johnson.

The Current-Braunie order of August 28, 1933, included the following code orders: 1. Minimum wage of $2.50 per hour, or $50 per week; 3.30 per cent or $5 per week; or at the rate of $144 a week, whichever is greater. The order also provided that employers be required to maintain a certain number of workers at all times, or purchase a certain amount of materials from the unions.

Employers' Facts

One employer, Mr. A. B. Smith, a manufacturer of Current-Braunie goods, said that the order would not affect his business in any way.

Another employer, Mr. John Doe, said that the order would increase his costs by 50 per cent.

Union Demands

The union delegation, led by Mr. John Doe, presented the following demands: 1. A minimum wage of $4.00 per week, or $80 per month; 2. A percentage wage of 30 per cent, or $6 per week; or at the rate of $288 per week, whichever is greater.

The order was held by the Labor Board, and it was decided to reconsider the matter.

The labor movement is not satisfied with the order, and it is expected that the order will be revised at a later date.

I.G.W.U. at the Underwear Code Hearing

On the same day, the I.G.W.U. presented its case before the same committee of the Labor Board. The union presented the following demands: 1. A minimum wage of $3.50 per hour, or $70 per week; 2. A percentage wage of 30 per cent, or $6 per week;
or at the rate of $252 per week, whichever is greater.

The order was again held by the Labor Board, and it was decided to reconsider the matter.

The labor movement is not satisfied with the order, and it is expected that the order will be revised at a later date.

I.G.W.U. at the Gauze Code Hearing

On the same day, the I.G.W.U. presented
its case before the same committee of the Labor Board. The union presented
the following demands: 1. A minimum wage of $3.00 per hour, or $60 per week; 2. A percentage wage of 30 per cent, or $6 per week;
or at the rate of $216 per week, whichever is greater.

The order was again held by the Labor Board, and it was decided to reconsider the matter.

the order, and it is expected that the order will be revised at a later date.

Buying Power Still Lagging Far Behind

Monthly Survey of Business of the A. F. of L.

The survey of the past month has proved beyond a doubt that a blanket code was urgently needed if prices were to return to normal. The survey further emphasized the need for a blanket code that would prevent the rise of prices, as well as the decline of wages. The survey also showed that the trend of prices and wages was downward, and that the survey of the past month has proved that a blanket code was urgently needed if prices were to return to normal.

Rapid Rise Slackers

During July, retail sales have remained at a much lower level, while production continued to increase. The two graphs show the trend of prices and wages. The graph of prices shows a sharp rise, while the graph of wages shows a slight decrease. The trend of prices and wages will continue to rise, but the rate of increase will be slower. The survey of the past month has proved that a blanket code was urgently needed if prices were to return to normal.

Policy Toward Dual Group

The other problem that our members face is the problem of organizing the workers who are organized in a dual group. This problem is especially acute in the garment industry, where the workers are organized in a dual group. The policy that we have adopted is to deal with each group separately, and to organize the workers in each group.
Does America Know the Road to Recovery?

As John Adams, a member of the state legislature, wrote in 1834: "The task of the people is to find the way to the future, not to lament the past." Today, the task of many Americans is to find a way to the future of their country, not to lament the past of their country. The past of America is filled with mistakes and failures, but the future of America is filled with possibilities and opportunities. The past of America is full of struggles and challenges, but the future of America is full of hope and promise. The past of America is a history of mistakes and failures, but the future of America is a history of possibilities and opportunities. Cloak and Suit Authority Set Up

The Cloak and Suit Authority, set up under the code approved for the industry by the Federal Trade Commission, has already been organized and is now in operation. The Cloak and Suit Authority, the only such authority in the country, is under the direction of the office of the Imperial Chairman of the International Cloak and Suit Organization, which is a measure of the esteem of the future recovery program in the industry.
