

Cornell University
ILR School

Labor Research Review

---

Volume 1 | Number 7
New Tactics for Labor

Article 11

---

1985

New Verses For Solidarity

Paul Vance

Elizabeth Vance

Lisa Vance

---

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@ILR. It has been accepted for inclusion in Labor Research Review by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@ILR. For more information, please contact hlmdigital@cornell.edu.

© 1985 by Labor Research Review

---

New Verses For Solidarity

Abstract

[Excerpt] Solidarity Forever is a familiar song in cement plants around the country now. One cement family—Paul and Elizabeth Vance and their 14-year-old daughter Lisa, of Bernallio, New Mexico composed some new verses to the old song to reflect their struggle.

Keywords

poetry, solidarity

NEW VERSES FOR SOLIDARITY

Solidarity Forever is a familiar song in cement plants around the country now. One cement family—Paul and Elizabeth Vance and their 14-year-old daughter Lisa, of Bernallio, New Mexico—composed some new verses to the old song to reflect their struggle.

We have asked for nothing more than that to us is fair.
Our safety is of no concern, only of production do they care.
They refuse to meet with us and this is quite unfair.
Yes the company is unfair.

(Chorus)

They want to take away all the rights we have gained.
They seem to think that we are playing some stupid game.
We will keep our course until our dignity we have gained.
For the families we do fight.

Solidarity forever!
Solidarity forever!
Solidarity forever!
For the union makes us strong.